Honorable George Bush
Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20032

Dear George:

I personally want to thank you for appearing at the International Dinner of the Harvard Business School Club of Greater New York, on April 12, at the Americana Hotel.

I was sorry to hear that you would not be able to keep the Eagle that the Club presented to you on your desk.

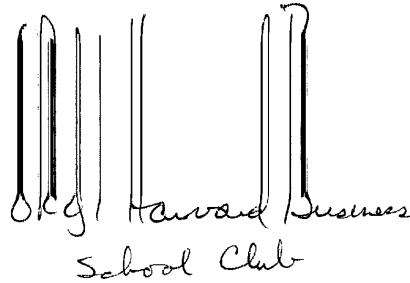

Although I am in sympathy with your overall design for the Agency, it appears to me that implementing and gaining public acceptance for it will be increasingly difficult in the years ahead. My feeling is that this country has undergone a major social change since the Viet Nam War which will be difficult, if not impossible, to counteract, despite your persuasiveness.

I wish you the best. Perhaps we shall meet again some time in the future.

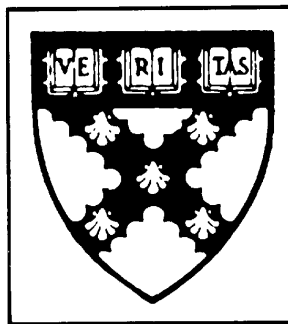

Sincerely,

Stephen L. Wald

Walter B. Wriston

Walter B. Wriston, recipient of the 1975 Business Statesman Award, has distinguished himself by both the universality and the vision he has brought to the world of banking and business.

Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Citicorp, he has led in the evolution of traditional banks into worldwide financial institutions, serving governments, businesses, and individual citizens. He has worked to create a world economic system that continually shifts financial resources from wherever in the world they may abound from time to time, to wherever they may be needed, to maintain the strength and health of the individual parts, and of the whole.

Mr. Wriston also serves on the President's Labor Management Committee, is a graduate and a member of the Board of Visitors of the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, and is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations.

The Business Statesman Award of the Harvard Business School Club of Greater New York

The Business Statesman Award is presented to men who have shown outstanding leadership in their businesses or professions, and have also made important contributions to the community in which they work or live, or to government.
